

Privacy Statement

The owner of this establishment will only collect such contact details and personal information as are necessary to carry out the transaction between the host and the guests.

The information collected is only retained for as long as is necessary to fulfil contractual responsibilities and to comply with fiscal regulations.

No personal details or information will be passed on to any third party. Such information would only be disclosed in exceptional circumstances if it was required by law.

Please see our separate cookie policy.